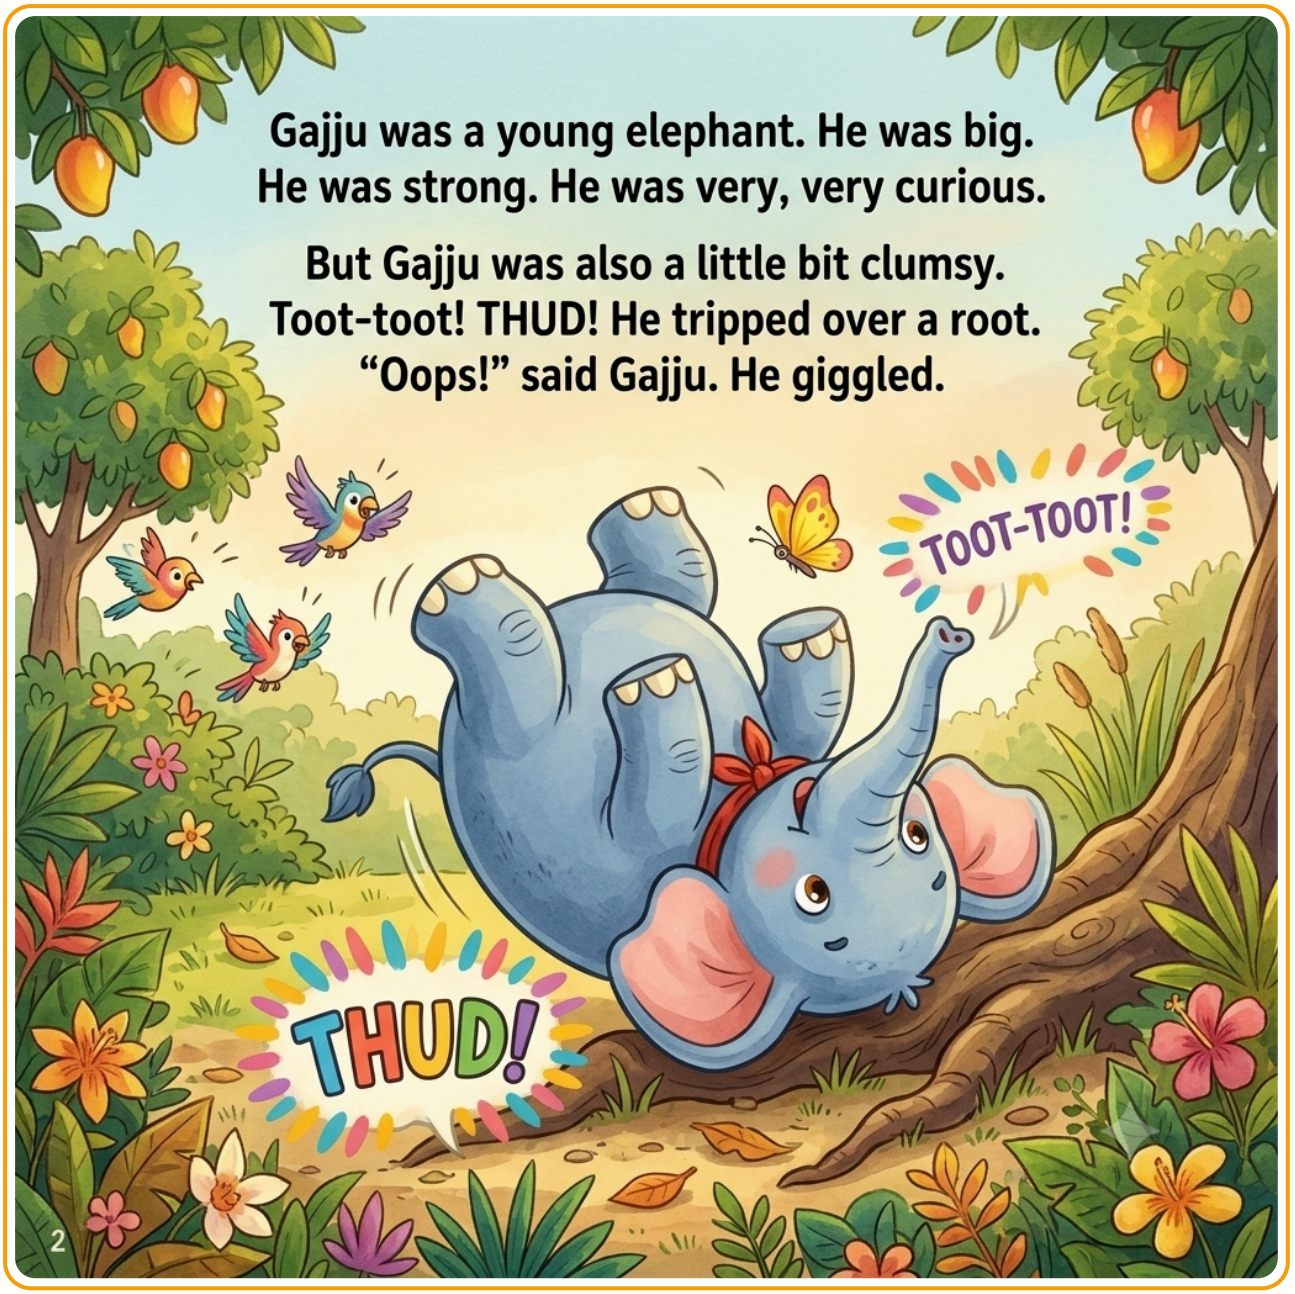
Gajju and Coco's Great Adventure
A Jungle Buddies Story
TOOT-TOOT!
SNIP-SNAP!



Gajju was a young elephant. He was big.
He was strong. He was very, very curious.
But Gajju was also a little bit clumsy.
Toot-toot! THUD! He tripped over a root.
“Oops!” said Gajju. He giggled.
TOOT-TOOT!
THUD!

Coco was a young crocodile. She was green.
She was quick. She was full of fun.
Coco loved tricks. Coco loved plans.
“Snip-snap! I have a plan!” she said.
The frogs hopped away. Just in case.
Snip-snap!
I have a plan!
SPLASH!

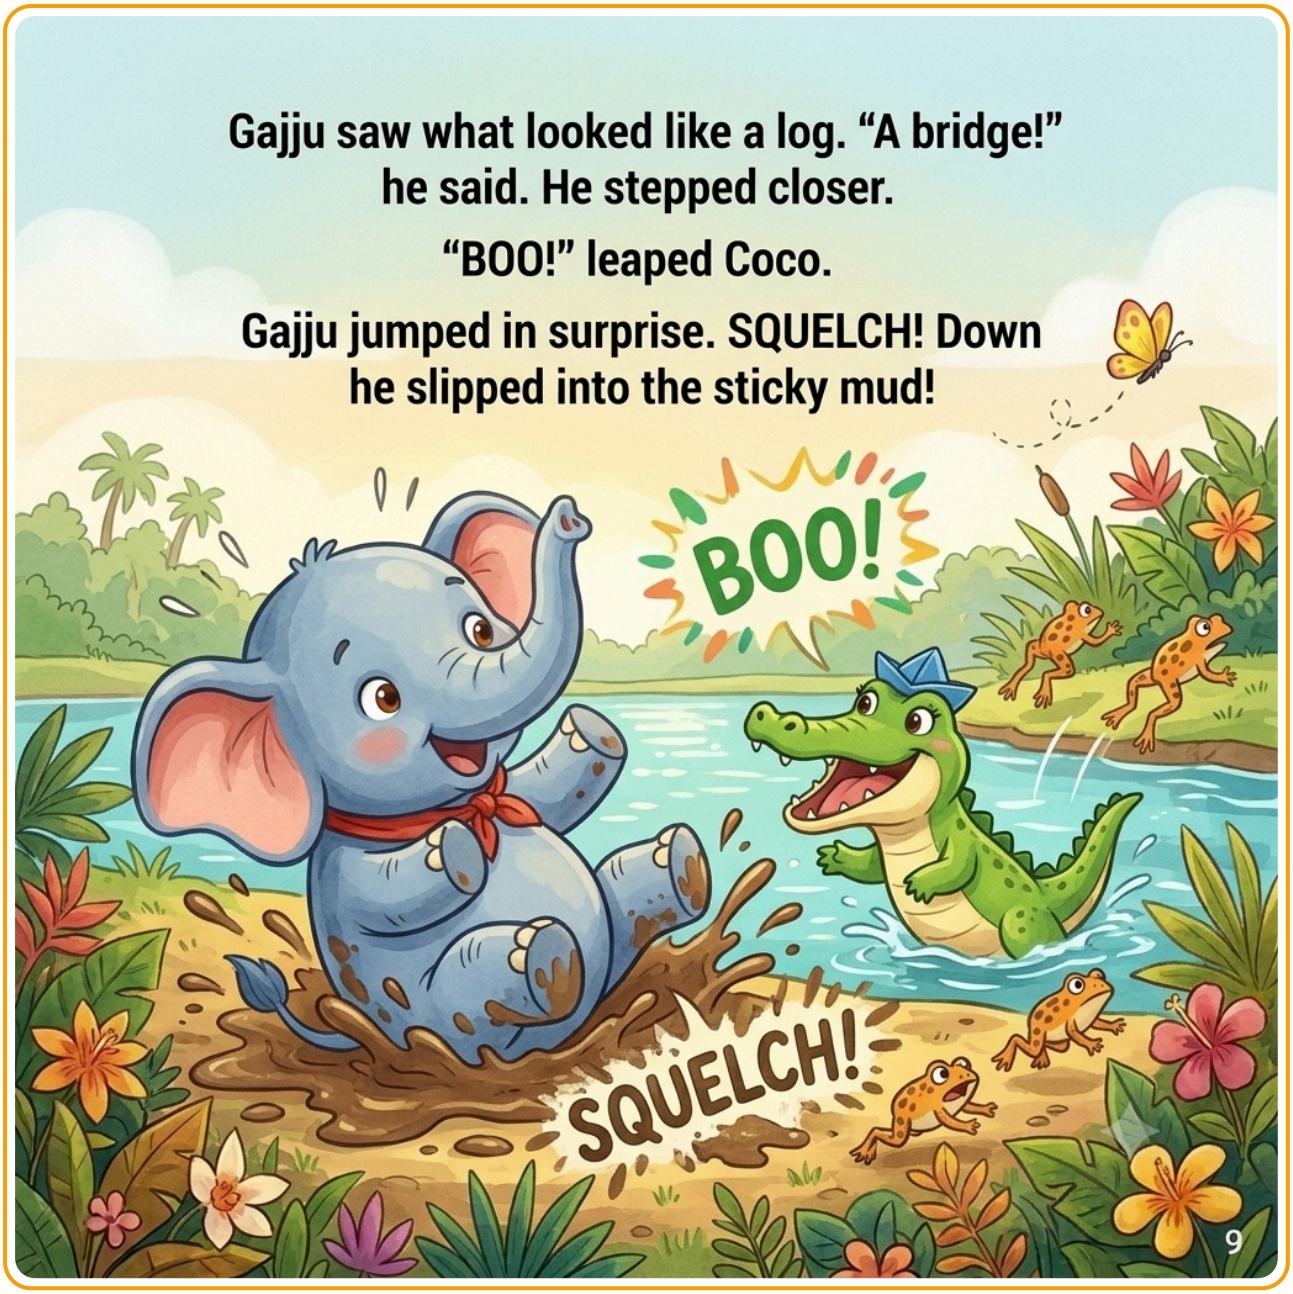
One sunny morning, Mynah flew down.
“Big news! Big news!” she sang.
“The Golden Mango is ripe! It is the sweetest mango in the jungle! It hangs on the tallest tree across the river!”
4



Gajju saw what looked like a log. “A bridge!” he said. He stepped closer.
“BOO!” leaped Coco.
Gajju jumped in surprise. SQUELCH! Down he slipped into the sticky mud!
BOO!
SQUELCH!

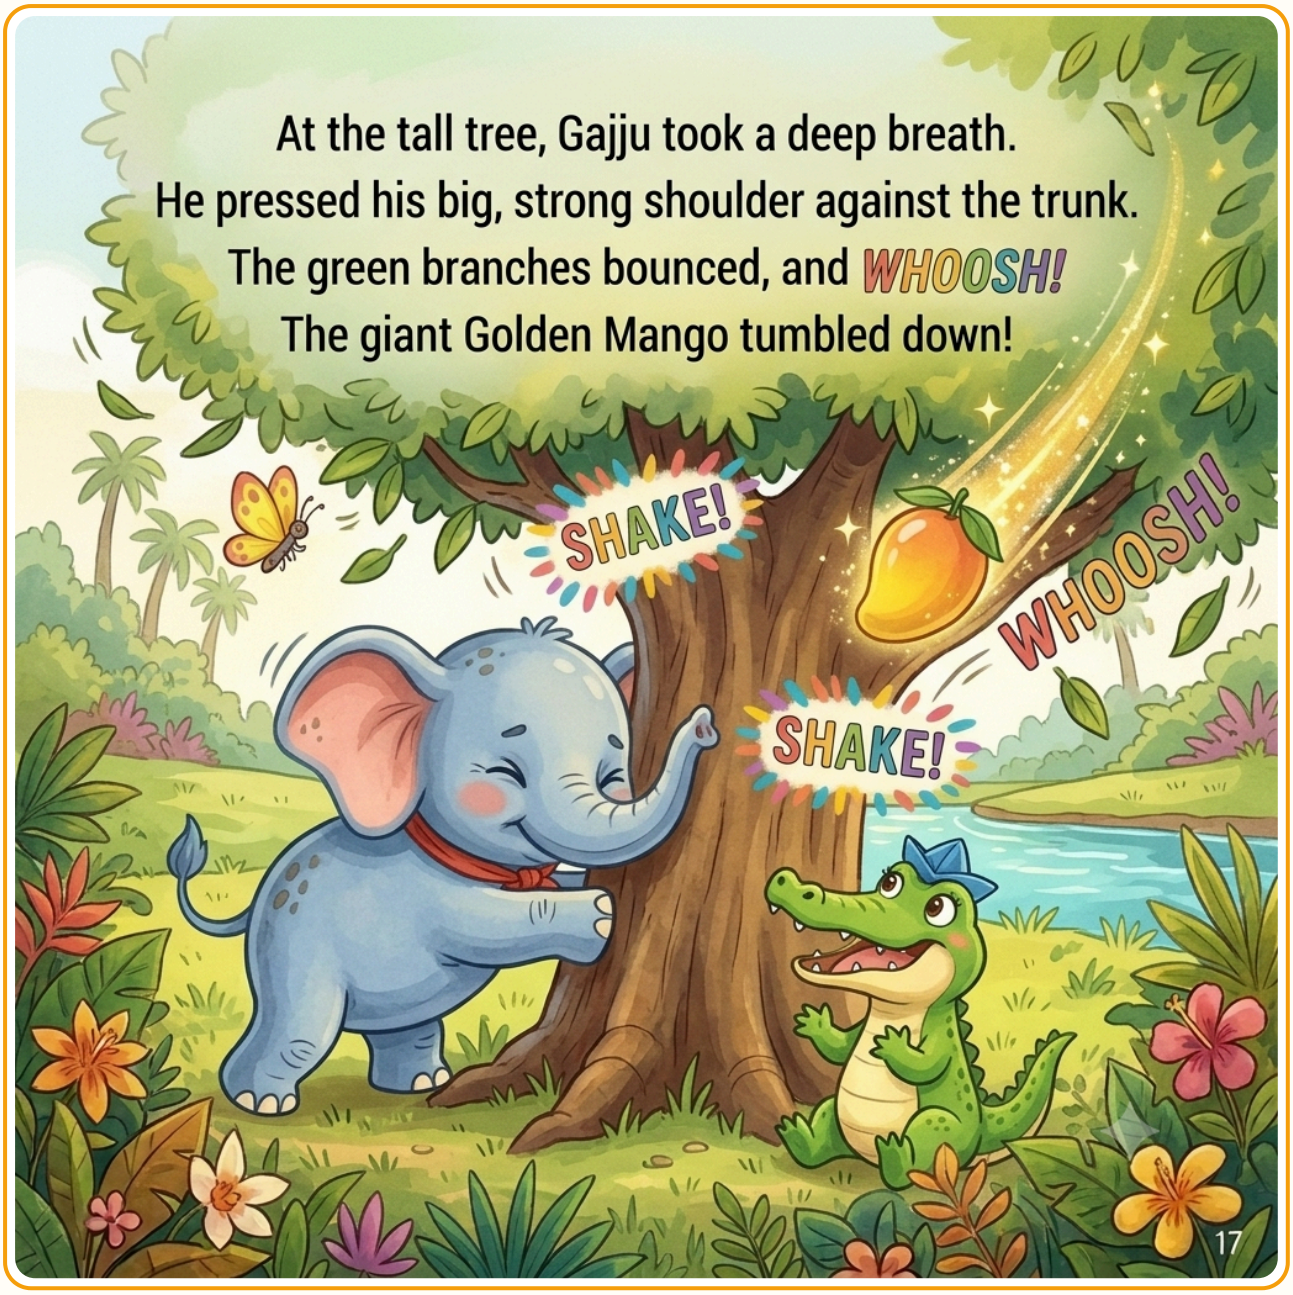
Coco said, ‘I am sorry I tricked you.’
‘Thank you for coming,’ smiled Gajju.
‘Snip-snap! I have a plan!’ cried Coco.
Together with Mynah and the monkey twins,
they held a strong jungle vine.
‘Heave... ho... HEAVE-HO!’
POP! Out popped Gajju with a happy cheer!
POP! HEAVE-HO!
15

Gajju washed off the mud. (Well. Most of it.)
'Let's try again,' said Coco. 'Together.'
Gajju waded into the shallow river. Coco swam beside him.
'Left a bit,' she said. 'The water is lower here.'
Splish, splash! Side by side, they crossed the river.
SPLISH, SPLASH!
16



At the tall tree, Gajju took a deep breath.
He pressed his big, strong shoulder against the trunk.
The green branches bounced, and WHOOSH!
The giant Golden Mango tumbled down!
SHAKE!
SHAKE!
WHOOSH!
17

The mango fell into the river—PLOP!—and drifted toward the rushing waterfall!
'Leave it to me!' shouted Coco. Swish! Swish! SWISH!
She sped through the waves and caught the Golden Mango just in the nick of time!
'Toot-toot! Hooray!' cheered Gajju.
PLOP!
SWISH!
SWISH!
SNIP-
SNAP!
19

The Golden Mango was giant—far too big for just two friends!
So they shared juicy slices with everyone in the jungle.
'Gajju is strong,' smiled Coco.
'Coco is quick,' grinned Gajju.
Best of all, they made the very best team!
TOOT-TOOT!
SNIP-SNAP!

Parent & Child Creative Tip: While colouring together, ask your child to make Gajju's happy trumpet sound ("Toot-toot!") when colouring his trunk and Coco's cheeky snap ("Snip-snap!") when colouring her snout!

Let's Talk About the Story! (Three Questions for Little Readers)

Read each question aloud together. Children can point to, circle, or shout out the right answer!

Question 1: Why couldn't Gajju and Coco get the Golden Mango all by themselves?

◯ A. Gajju was too heavy for the wobbly bridge, and Coco could not climb the tall tree.
◯ B. They forgot where the river was.
◯ C. Mynah the bird flew away with the mango.

💬 Talk Together: What is something you can do really well, and what is something a friend or family member helps you do?

Question 2: What did Coco say to Gajju before she helped pull him out of the sticky mud?

◯ A. "See you tomorrow!"
◯ B. "I am sorry I tricked you."
◯ C. "Let's go take a nap!"

💬 Talk Together: How did Gajju feel when Coco said sorry and brought Mynah and the monkey twins with a strong vine to help him?

Question 3: How did Gajju and Coco work as a team to save the Golden Mango?

◯ A. Strong Gajju shook the tall tree, and quick Coco swam fast to catch the mango before the waterfall!
◯ B. The frogs built a giant ladder out of lily pads.
◯ C. They waited for the wind to blow the mango across the river.

💬 Talk Together: Why was sharing the giant Golden Mango with all the jungle animals more fun than eating it alone?
